RE: Naming of field at Central Park

As you may be aware, the Harrisburg Community Foundation has secured a $150,000 gift from Dakota Access Pipeline. In exchange for this generous gift, the Foundation is proposing that Field A at Central Park be named “Dakota Access Field” for a period of ten years. One requirement in recognition of the donor’s gift is that “Dakota Access Field” be displayed on top of the scoreboard at the field (see illustration below) and that a public ribbon cutting event be held to formally recognize the gift.

Thank you for your consideration of this proposal, which has been recommended for approval by the Park Board. The funds generously given by Dakota Access Pipeline have been instrumental in allowing us to make enhancements to Central Park which will benefit the entire community.
